Subject: Freedom, not mandates

Hello, we wanted to address our concerns over the COVID-19 mandates. We have done a considerable amount of research on COVID-19 and we do not believe it is necessary to restrict the public anymore severely than it has already been restricted. The emergency measures taken thus far seem to be more of a knee-jerk reactionary panic, rather than a calculated and measurable approach. We understand the need to flatten the curve, and take common sense precautionary measures. However, emergency powers that suspend the constitutional rights of citizens, resulting in complete gridlock and the shutdown of the entire country, are extremely dangerous at best. We are afraid that the unintended consequences of these measures will prove to be far more catastrophic than the out workings of COVID-19. With that said, it is our view that the restrictions need to be loosed and all emergency powers absolved. Issue us your best recommendations and we the people will rise to the occasion. Don't give us your mandate.
