Dear Mayor Jensen et al,

I have a real problem understanding how there has been a borough wide planning and zoning started. My understanding was, when the borough was formed that there would be no changes in government policy regarding certain plans. Planning and zoning being one of them.

I feel that our new borough government is not respecting those agreements. Can you do that?

Another thought of mine is that we don't need regulations because we live remotely and if we are offending our neighbors with certain constructions we can deal with them personally.

We also have little to fear about lodges, hotels, parking lots, shopping centers, etc. crowding our living space. Even private dwellings will be slow to appear with our dwindling economy.

If in fact, this planning and zoning business becomes an issue, I think the residents of the outlying area of the borough should be allowed to vote on their choice to have this become part of their lives. This should not be a decision for service area 1 to make.

Respectfully, Benlah Johnson, Duncan Canal
